Rachel A. Ruotolo, MD, FACS

Member at Large

Dr. Rachel A. Ruotolo is a board-certified plastic surgeon who specializes in pediatric plastic and craniofacial surgery. She holds the title of Vice President at Long Island Plastic Surgical Group since 2013, and has been a partner since 2010. She is currently the co-director of Cohen Children's Hagedorn Cleft Palate and Craniofacial Center. As an expert in her field, she is celebrated for both the compassionate care she provides and the life-changing results she achieves.

While Dr. Ruotolo's role as a surgeon is paramount, her mission to help children extends beyond the scope of medicine. In addition to serving on the board of Child Abuse Prevention Services for ten years, she was also honored by the organization with the Distinguished Service to Children Award in 2010. That same year, Dr. Ruotolo was also recognized by Long Island Business News with the prestigious Healthcare Hero Award.

Alongside her other affiliations, Dr. Ruotolo is a member of the American Society of Craniofacial Surgery, the American Society of Plastic Surgeons, the American Cleft Palate Craniofacial Association, the International Society of Craniofacial Surgery, the Medical Society of the State of New York, and the Nassau County Medical Society.
