

NARAYAN D. AGRAWAL, MD

BIO

Dr. Agrawal is a Board-Certified Nephrologist in private practice and President of Queens-long Island Kidney Center.

His hospital practice is primarily in North shore University Hospital and Long Island Jewish Medical Center. He is also a member of North Shore University Hospital medical board and secretary of North Shore medical staff society.

He was a clinical assistant professor in Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai, NY for 15 yrs., at present he is a clinical assistant professor in Donald and Barbara Zucker School of Medicine Hofstra/Northwell, NY. He is also a speaker for a few pharmaceutical companies-Boehringer Ingelheim, Travers therapeutics, Aurinia Pharma and AstraZeneca, educating physicians of new research and medications in the development.

He understands that to be able to provide quality care to the patients it's important that physicians are happy and have a good quality of life. This has been a challenge in recent years, regulations and insurances are ruining the fun part of practicing medicine. Besides practicing medicine, he does spend time caring for physician wellbeing and advocating for physicians in the community.

He is also part of the executive committee of American association of Physicians of Indian origin Queens-long Island, NY chapter organizing many social events educating local community.

He looks forward to working with Nassau County Medical Society achieving its goal.
